

Welcome to training session two for the amazing 4th Dimension Perpetual Income Generator...

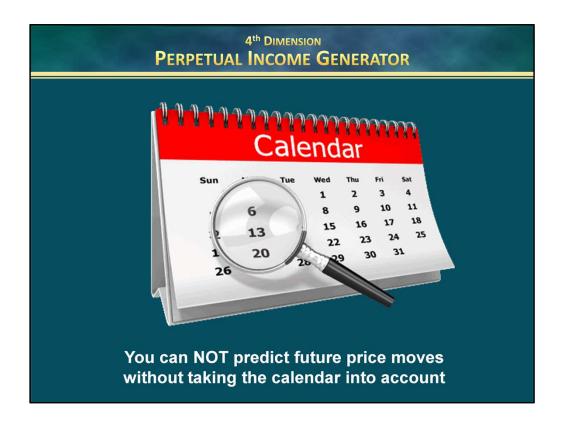

The greatest trading discovery in more than 40 years and your gateway to financial freedom...

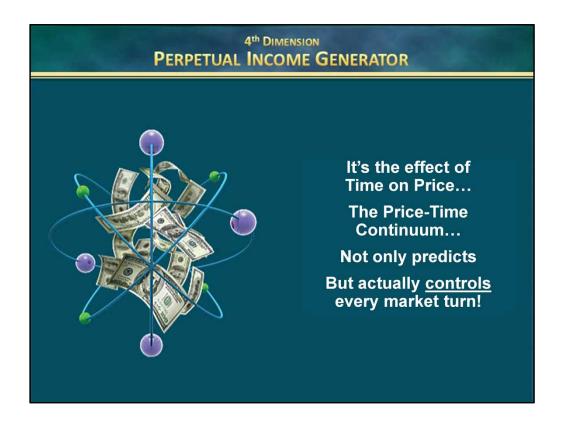

I'm Steve Swanson. and in video one I turned your perception of the financial world upside down by proving to you...

That traditional indicators have no predictive power whatsoever!

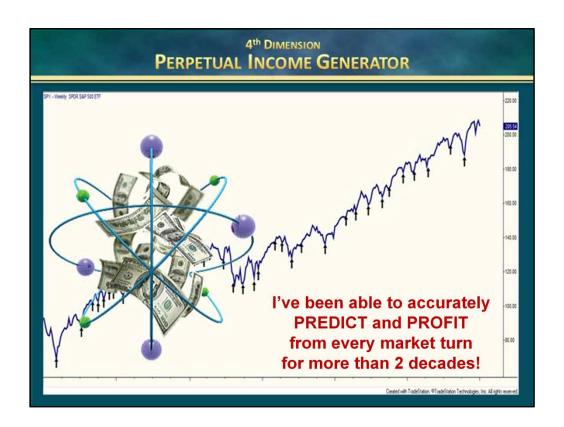

And that's because you cannot predict future price moves without taking the calendar into account

It's the effect of time on price or the Price-Time Continuum that not only predicts but actually controls every market turn!

Having Harnessed the full power of the price/time continuum... which is the only true force in the stock market...

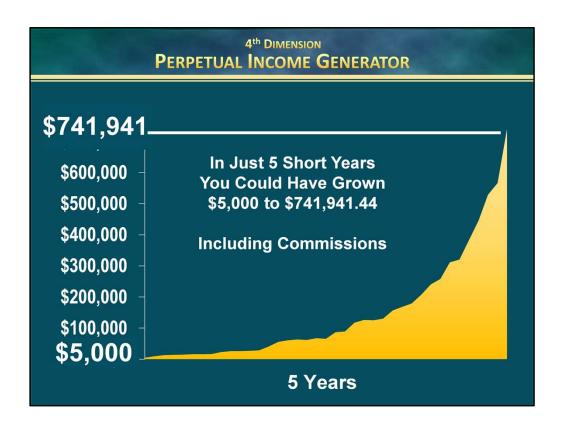

I've been able to accurately predict and profit from every market turn for more than two decades

And then taking profits when I announced the top...

You could have grown a modest $5,000 account into an exciting $741,941 fortune... including commissions!

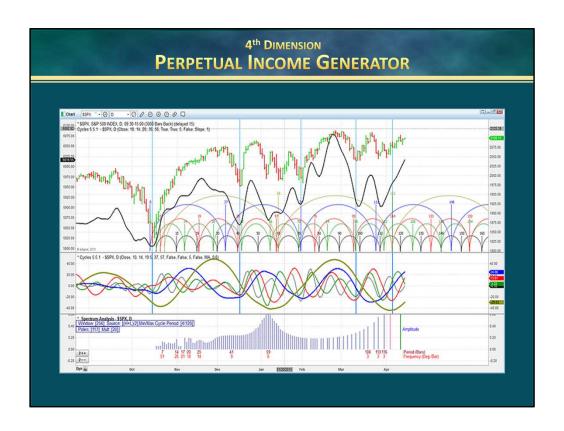

"Since three quarters of all stocks do what the DOW or S&P500 does, Steve's analysis for the indexes carries over to stocks within each index."

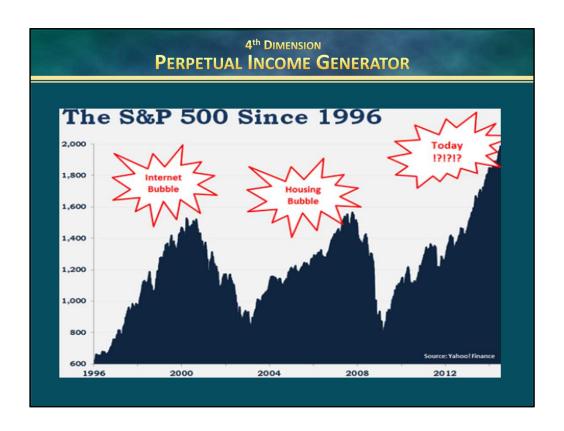

"I recently did that on Amazon and made $11,000 in about 6 week's time."

Craig's right. Since each stock is a subset of the market on a whole it will likely do whatever the major indexes do

So today I'm going to tell you about specific cycles controlling the S&P500 and I'm going to show you how you can profit from them

Some market cycles last several years, others no more than a few minutes.

But it's the intermediate swing cycles that tell us when to buy the dips and when to take profits at the top... so that's what we're going to look at today

Regularly Occurring Events Effecting the Market

- 5 Trading Days a Week and weekly options expire every Friday
- 20-22 Trading Days between each monthly reporting period and monthly option expiration
- Alternately 30 & 35 Trading Days between FOMC Meetings
- 65 Trading Days between quarterly earnings seasons

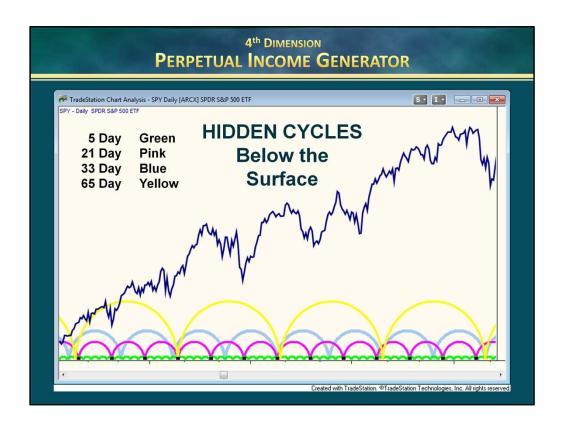

There are a number of regularly occurring events that contribute to intermediate cycles...

There are 5 trading days in a week and we have weekly options expiring every Friday

There are 20-22 trading days in each monthly reporting period

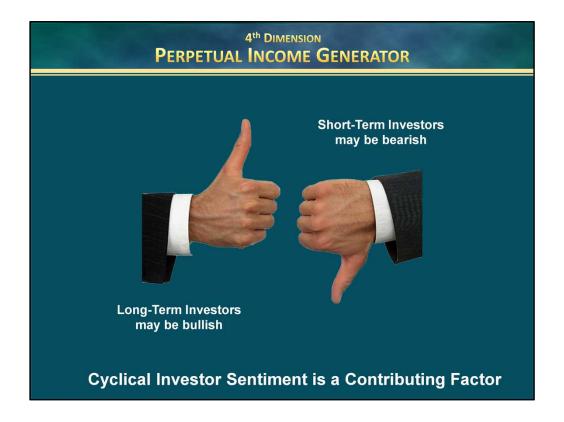

There are alternately 30 or 35 Trading Days between FOMC Meetings

And there's roughly 65 Trading Days between quarterly earnings seasons

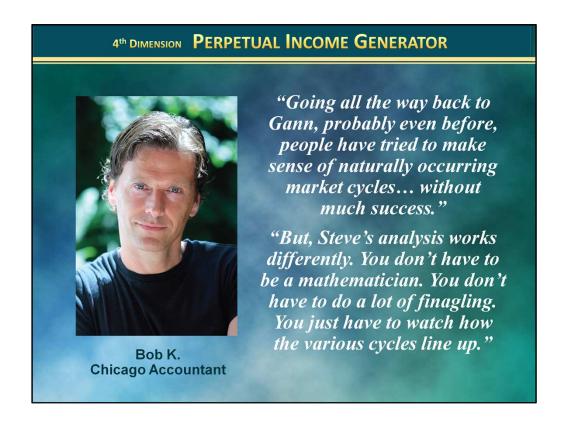

But, as you can see 5 day, 21 day, 33 day and 65 day cycles really don't match this chart of the S&P 500 very well at all.

And that's because of the hidden cycles you may not know about

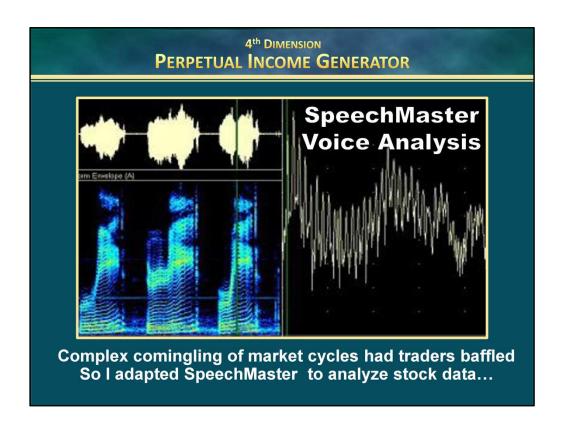

Take investor sentiment, for example, which is very cyclical.

And it's not uncommon for Long-Term investors to be bullish at a time when short-term investors are bearish and vice versa.

"Going all the way back to Gann, probably even before, people have tried to make sense of naturally occurring market cycles... without much success."

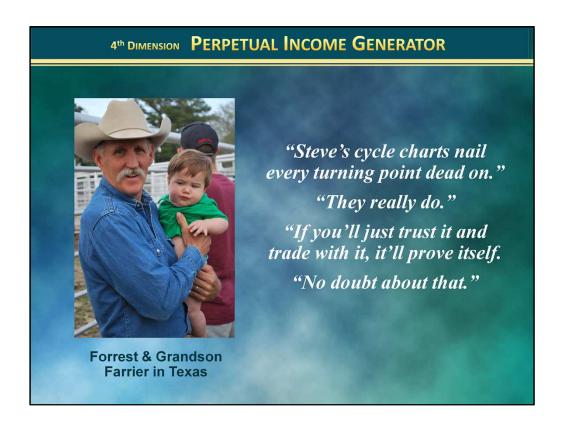

"But, Steve's analysis works differently. You don't have to be a mathematician. You don't have to do a lot of finagling. You just have to watch how the various cycles line up."

The complex comingling of market cycles had traders baffled... Until a group of professional traders gave me the brilliant idea of adapting my speech analysis software to analyze stock data.

Running sophisticated algorithms to >>measure and record persistent market cycles I accomplished the unthinkable I broke the time barrier!

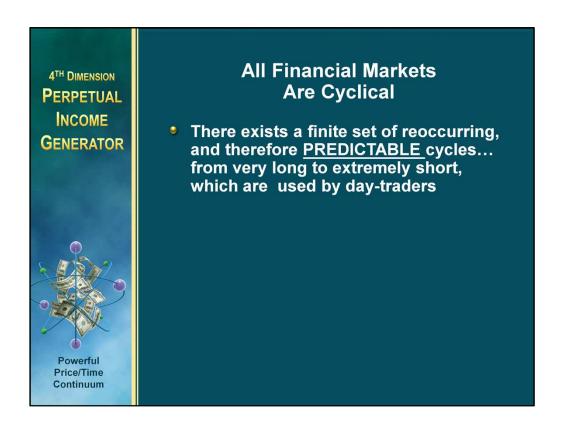

"Steve's cycle charts nail every turning point dead on."

"They really do."

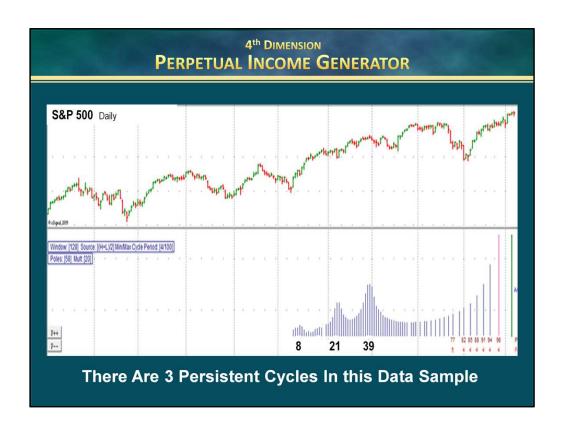

"If you'll just trust it and trade with it, it'll prove itself.

"No doubt about that."

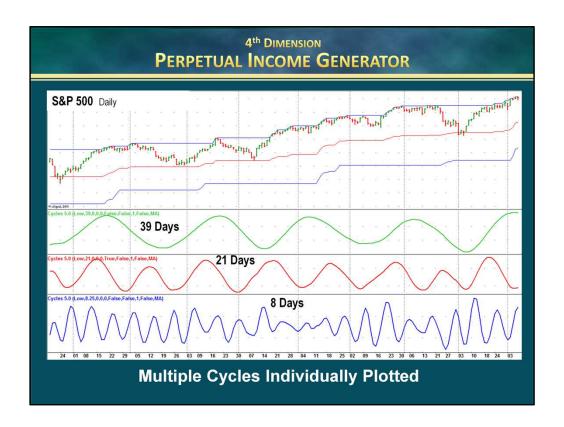

Forrest is right. You CAN trust my cycle charts.

And that's because, within all financial markets there exists a finite set of reoccurring, and therefore predictable cycles of varying lengths... some very long and some extremely short, which are used by day-traders.

For example my software identified 3 persistent cycles present on this sample of S&P500 daily data it found one 8 days long...

one that's 21 days... and a dominant cycle at 39 days

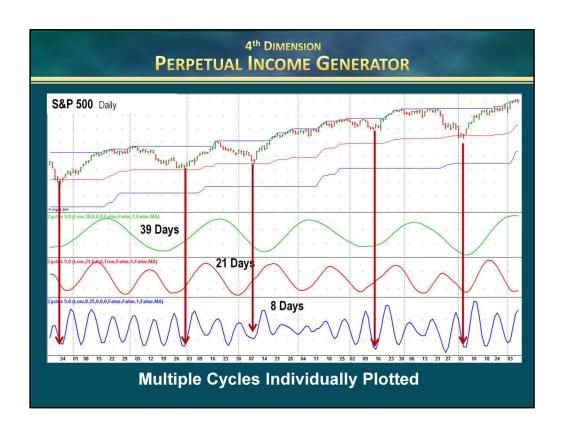

And here they are individually plotted...

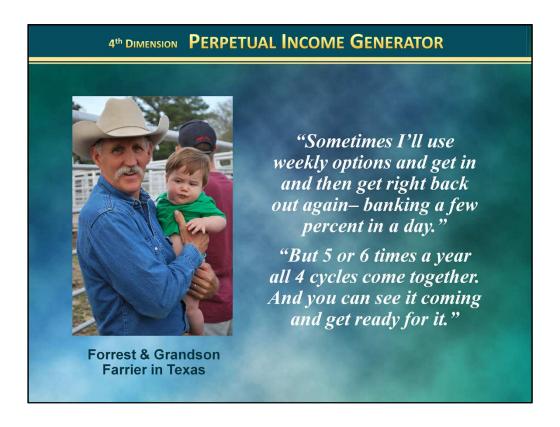

We've got a nice continuous sine wave at 39 days

Here's our 21 Day cycle

And the 8-day looks nervous but it's pretty persistent over time

Draw a line through each market low and you see that the best buying opportunities come as the 39 and 21 day lows line up in close proximity to the 8-day low

"Sometimes I'll use weekly options and get in and then get right back out again—banking a few percent in a day."

"But 5 or 6 times a year all 4 cycles come together. And you can see it coming and get ready for it."

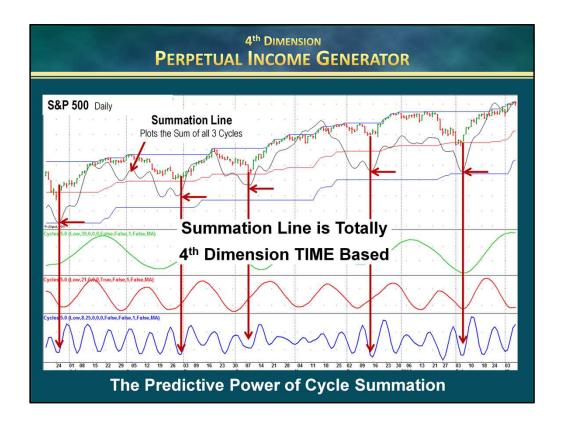

All Financial Markets Are Cyclical

- There exists a finite set of reoccurring, and therefore PREDICTABLE cycles... from very long to extremely short.
- Market cycles build upon one another like to form larger composite cycles with colossal profit potential.

Like Forrest says market cycles come together like the perfect storm to form a larger composite cycle with colossal profit potential

This is known as the principle of summation...

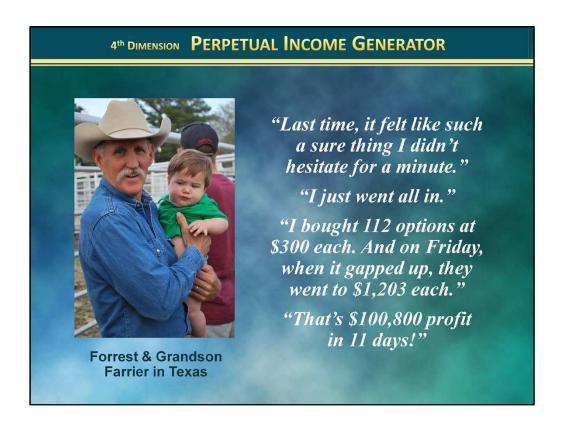

The black line is where my software has plotted the sum of the 8, 21 & 39 day cycles...

The Summation line coincides so closely with market bottoms that it may seem like it's reflecting price-action after the fact... like other indicators do.

But actually, the summation line is 4th Dimension Time based

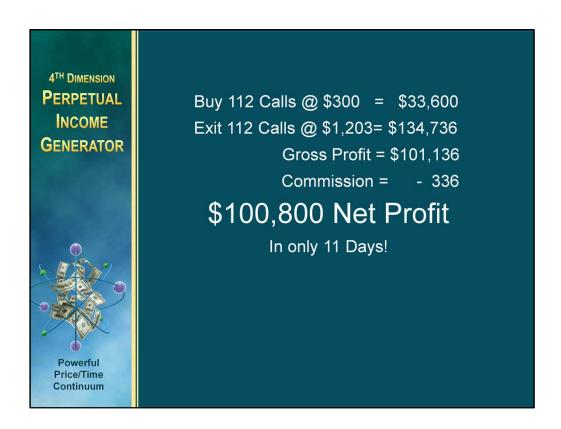

And it's as predictable as Winter, Spring, Summer and Fall

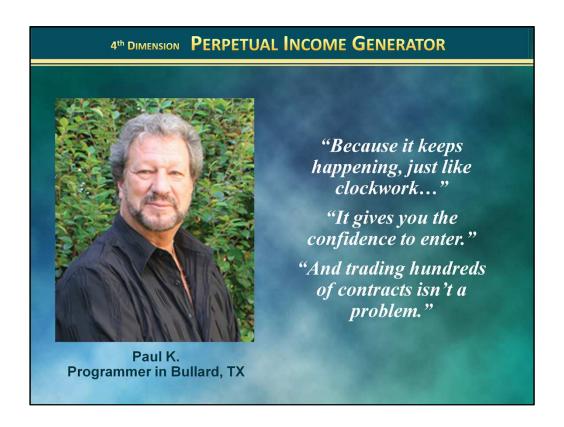

"Last time, it felt like such a sure thing I didn't hesitate for a minute.

I just went all in."

"I bought 112 options at $300 each. And on Friday, when it gapped up, they went to $1,203 each. That's $100,800 profit in 11 days!"

Over a hundred thousand dollar profit in 11 days... That ought to get your attention! And incase you think you'd never have the nerve to buy 100 options, listen to this..

"Because it keeps happening, just like clockwork..."

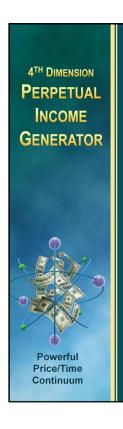

"It gives you the confidence to enter."

"And trading hundreds of contracts isn't a problem."

"You can look back in history and see where time and time again his charts signal a bottom."

"Then the market turns right around and zooms back up to the previous high."

All Financial Markets Are Cyclical

- There exists a finite set of reoccurring, and therefore PREDICTABLE cycles... from very long to extremely short.
- Market cycles build upon one another to form larger composite cycles with colossal profit potential.
- Cycle lows tend to be sharp as the shorter cycles in the composite bottom together... so you don't want to hesitate when it comes to getting in

Paul's right about the market turning on a dime.

Cycle lows tend to be sharp as the shorter cycles in the composite bottom together, so you definitely don't want to hesitate when it comes to getting in.

But, no worries because I'm going to send you an email every day

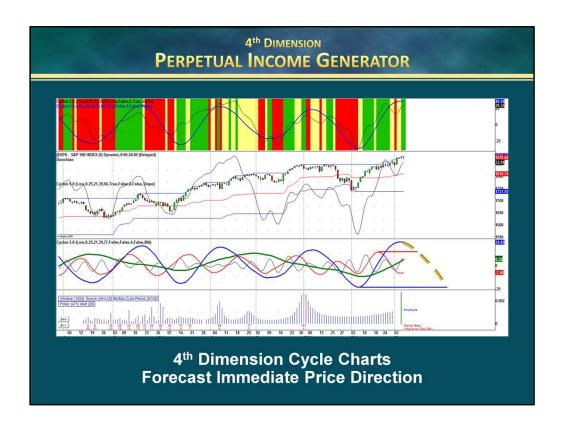

So you know precisely when to get in... And you'll know when to get out too!

All Financial Markets Are Cyclical

- Market cycles build upon one another to form larger composite cycles with colossal profit potential.
- Cycle lows tend to be sharp as the shorter cycles in the composite bottom together... so you don't want to hesitate when it comes to getting in
- Cycle tops tend to be more rounded as various cycles peak one after another.

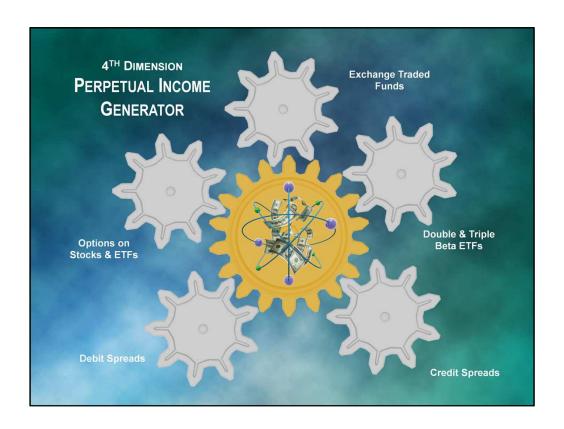

Although taking profits does have a bit more leeway because the top to dominate cycles tend to be rounded as each shorter cycle peaks one after another

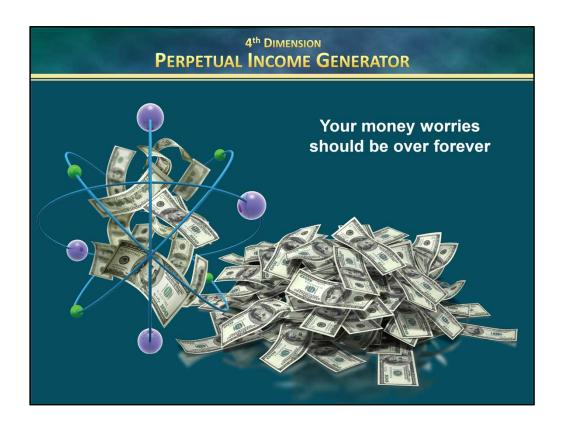

With the predictive power of my 4th Dimension cycle charts

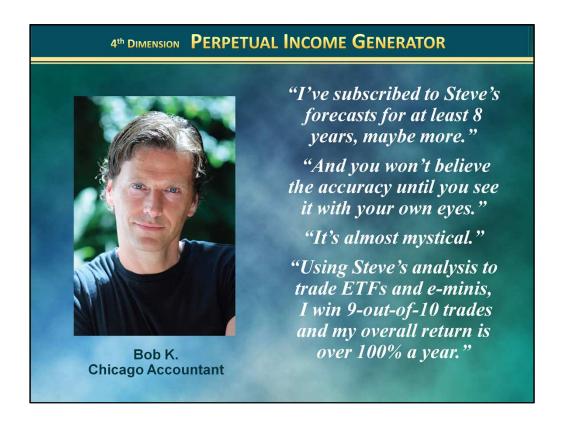

And my daily emails telling you exactly when to make a move..

No matter which combination of wealth-building instruments you choose

Your money worries should be over forever

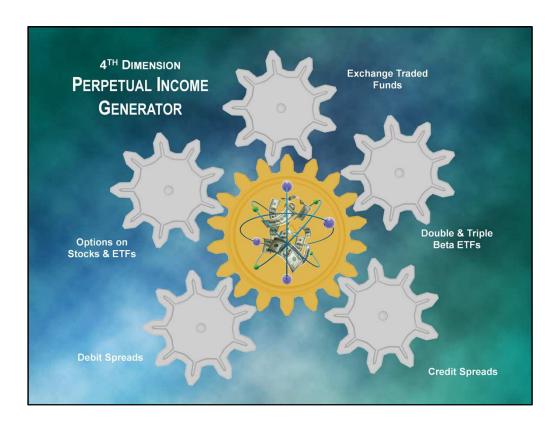

"I've subscribed to Steve's forecasts for at least 8 years, maybe more."

"And you won't believe the accuracy until you see it with your own eyes."

"It's almost mystical."

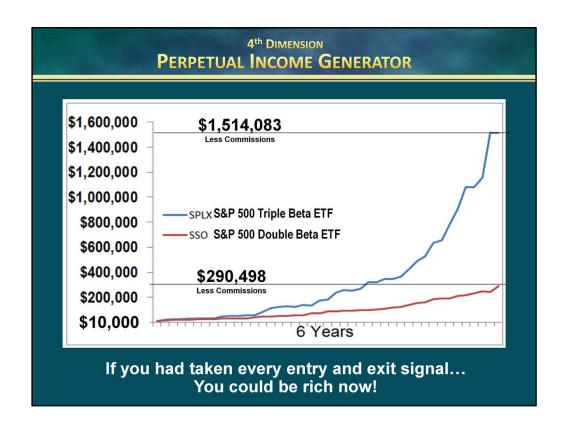

"Using Steve's analysis to trade ETFs and e-minis,

I win 9-out-of-10 trades and my overall return is over 100% a year."

Bob doubles his money every year trading only ETFs and eminis and you can too.

Look at this!

If you started with $10,000 and took every signal...

Buying the SSO Exchange Traded Fund... which moves up and down 2-times as much as the S&P 500

At the end of six years you'd have $290,498, less commissions

And if you'd bought the SPLX Triple-Beta etf, you'd be a millionaire!

In 6 years we exited a total of 43 time to avoid crippling losses...

Potentially growing $10,000 to $1.5 million.

Meanwhile Buy and hold grew $10,000 to only $77,000 trading the SPXL and less than $48,000 trading the SSO proving how much drawdowns really do hurt

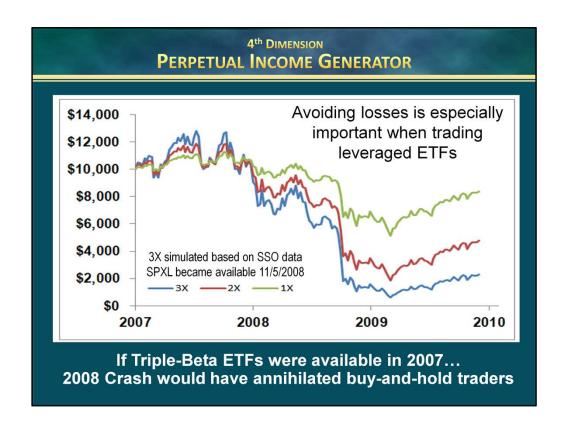

"I've been using Steve's service for 10 years or more.

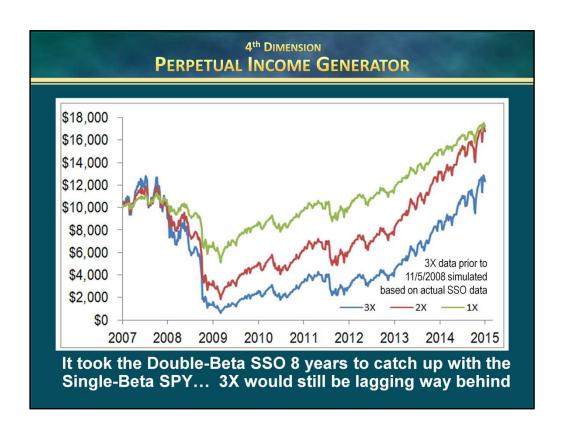

"It's how I managed to avoid the big drawdown in 2008."

"That's the best thing..."

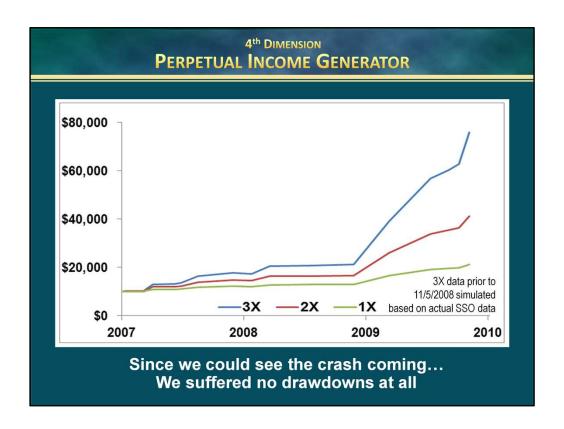

"You could see it coming so I moved my 401k's to cash."

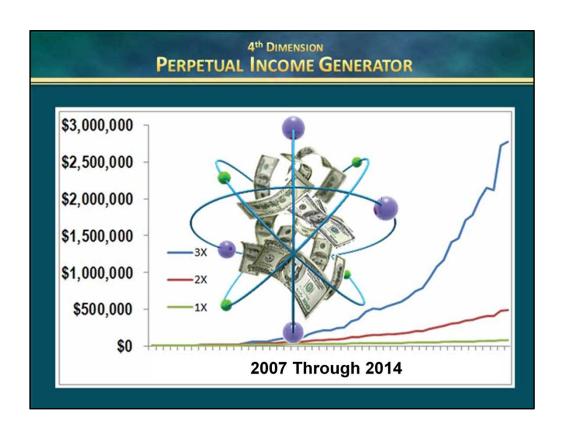

Steve's right... Avoiding Losses IS the best thing... especially when trading leveraged ETFs

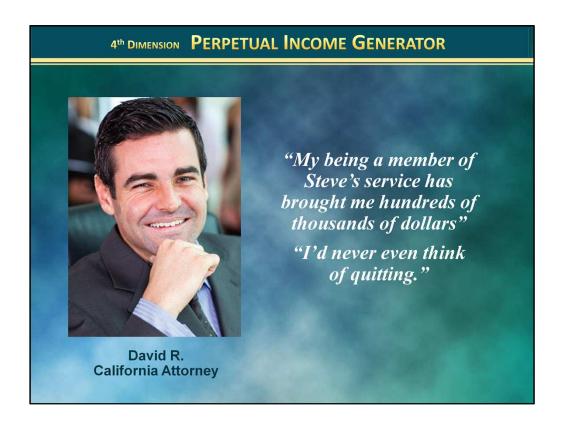

It took the double-beta SSO 8 years to catch up with the Single-Beta SPY and a triple x would still till be lagging way behind.

Of course, since we could see the crash coming... we suffered no drawdowns at all

And, during that same 8-year period... that was so devastating to so many... you could have amassed millions

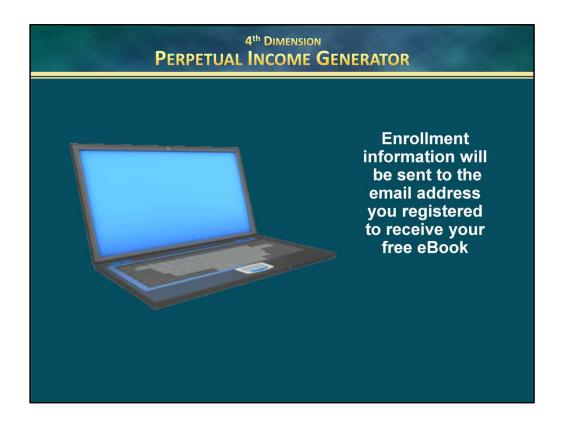

"My being a member of Steve's service has brought me hundreds of thousands of dollars"

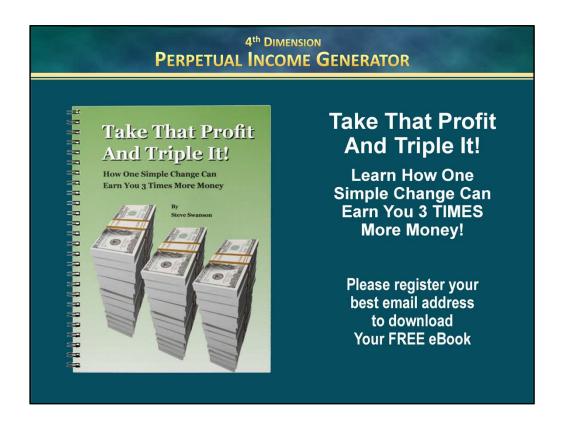

"I'd never even think of quitting."

I'll bet you're eager to be a member too... And soon you'll get your chance but You can't join yet...
